

South Dakota & Yellowstone National Park

South Dakota and Wyoming's history read like an adventure story with tales of Plains Indians, explorers and pioneers. This twelve day adventure abounding in rich landscapes and historical landmarks promises to be the most scenic and interesting history class you have ever attended.

Yellowstone National Park is the first and oldest national park in the world. The park is famous for its various geysers, especially 'Old Faithful', the world's most famous geyser. The Continental Divide passes through Yellowstone.

The past is always present in Cody Country. This part of Wyoming represents the last of the true West. Cody is a place where the cowboy culture thrives and where the new West begins. The vistas are spectacular, the land is wild and the people are genuinely friendly.

Mount Rushmore features the faces of four exalted American presidents; George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Theodore Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln. South Dakota's Black Hills provide the backdrop.

Crazy Horse is the world's largest sculpture. Located in the Black Hills of South Dakota, the memorial includes the Indian Museum of North America, the Native American Cultural Center and the Orientation Center and Theaters.

The Rockies & Waterton Lakes

Waterton Lakes is a rare gem in the south-western corner of the province of Alberta. In this breathtaking part of the world, the majestic Rockies rise suddenly out of rolling prairies. The park borders Glacier National Park in Montana. A place like no other, the uniqueness is a blend of unusual geology, mild climate, rare wildflowers and an abundance of wildlife.

Banff National Park; snow-capped peaks, glistening glaciers and sweeping vistas are just part of the allure. From quiet meadows to thundering waterfalls, towering peaks to misty canyons, Banff offers a wide assortment of beautiful scenery.

Lake Louise is Canada's 'Diamond in the Wilderness'. Nothing quite prepares the visitor for the unearthly beauty of this alpine gem.

A full circle of the lushest valleys, majestic mountains and serene lakes.
